

RAF COLLEGE CRANWELL “Cranwellian Memorial”

THE OLD HANGAR CHURCH

Need for a Virtual Memorial

Commemorations to the fallen are evident in many different forms. In addition to annual ceremonies across the nation on Remembrance Day, there are many privately and publicly sponsored museums and heritage centres whose common aim is to preserve and promote the astonishing contributions made by our servicemen and women in peace and in war.

Some of the most conspicuous and typical examples are perhaps the Remembrance Ceremony at the Cenotaph (pictured right) each year and the superb displays at the Imperial War Museum, the RAF Museum, the International Bomber Command Centre (IBCC) and the Kent Battle of Britain Memorial Museum. However, there are many dedicated volunteers who have created 'local' tributes, whether they be motivated by geographic (i.e. city, town, village) or functional (e.g. Unit, Wing, Squadron) communities. Many of these have relied on the inspiration of a few to motivate the social conscience of the many, to preserve hard won heritage.

The Cranwellian Community is no different. The formation of the Old Cranwellian Association in 1926, initiated by the volunteer efforts of recent graduates led by George Beamish in 1924, and the diligent maintenance of Flight Cadet records by College staff from the outset together inspired the preservation of RAF College Heritage as reflected in the unrivalled achievements of its alumni. Such proud initiatives are generated and maintained within a religious context, in the first instance represented by 'The Old Hangar Church' (front cover) whose own story is portrayed in the Cranwellian Historical Society (CHS) album at <https://www.cranwellian-ian.com/college-life/ewExternalFiles/TheOldHangarChurchNOV23.pdf>.

Throughout its history, the RAF College has engendered a spirit of justifiable pride in all who have trained and served there. It is no surprise, therefore, that some 200 Cranwellians have even opted to 'rest in peace' at the Cranwell Village Church Cemetery, St Andrews (pictured left), whose graves initially tended by another dedicated Cranwellian, Wg Cdr (ret'd) Trevor Bush, are now under the care and maintenance of the CGWC; see <https://www.cranwellian-ian.com/lest-we-forget/ewExternalFiles/CranwellVillageRemembersThemV3.0.pdf>. That said, it is a sad reflection of modern times and the current dependence on volunteer effort that the maintenance of alumni records and College Heritage is not as evident as it used to be. Core commitments and priorities at the RAF College have inevitably distracted concerted effort once applied to its history and heritage. During a deep research into College records, however, the CHS has gained a unique, privileged insight into the first 100 years of College operation and the passage of 30,000 alumni through its gates.

Research completed, the opportunity existed to create a Virtual Memorial - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=leMc2HQm0eM> - from which this 'hard copy' is derived to pay tribute to the 1,972 College alumni who paid the ultimate sacrifice whilst in the RAF. Lest we forget.

Scope

The private CHS Research project into RAF College Heritage & History started in February 2017, frankly with little understanding of what there was to research, let alone how best to portray it. Inevitably, initial research was orientated towards the 1970s GE era of which the CHS Founder and website creator was a graduate. Many thousands of hours scouring the College archives and capturing, analysing and verifying data during the next eight years revealed a better understanding of the RAF College's evolution between 1920 and 2019, but more importantly of its alumni and their unrivalled contributions not only to College Heritage but our nation's history. The majority of the archived documents, as yet not digitised, had yet to be accessioned and so the first task was to catalogue what had been retained.

Though there were many diligently maintained records of alumni through the Flight Cadet era (1920-1939, 1947-1973), these merely acted as signposts to further relevant documents held in the public domain, steadily emerging with a wealth of information accessible through the internet. The archived records of the wartime College SFTS - delivering flying training only to the College Hall residents - had not yet been accessioned and were a unique and unexpected 'find'. Records of GE, IOT and IOTC alumni were limited to 'Disposal Rolls', declaring graduates of each course, their professional branch on graduation and their first postings; again these archived records (up to 2010) had not yet been accessioned. The records of graduates between 2010 and 2019 were assimilated from privately purchased graduation programmes and graduation parade DVDs. After three years of negotiation with the College and sustained acquisition of College Journals from private donors and, latterly, the IWM and RAF Museums, we were able to verify the accuracy of the records we had researched.

Throughout this eight year period of discovery, we were never quite sure what we would find and indeed if we would ever obtain a complete and accurate appreciation of the RAF College's Heritage & History. Indeed, we do not claim even now to have a complete and accurate story. That said, we have been able to discard some 'myths' that appear to have emerged during the passage of time and to derive a better understanding of College Life during its first 100 years of operation and of its unique product - the Cranwellian. Arguably the most significant chapter of the RAF College's story is the contribution made by alumni to the defence of our nation, trained and inspired by the Directing Staff of years gone by at the College. Now known for certain, for example, is that there were not 477 ex-Flight Cadets "killed" or "killed in action" during WWII, a figure that would have represented an alarming sacrifice of 50% of ex-cadets still serving on 3 September 1939. Through our privileged insight, we have been able to create Rolls Of Honour for each of the College's distinct eras during its first 100 years of operation: 1920-1939; 1939-1945; 1945-1979; 1980-2019. These may be found on the CHS website at <https://www.cranwellian-ian.com/lest-we-forget/rolls-of-honour.html>.

Proud of their commitments and achievements, we felt motivated to create a Memorial to all of them, as far as our research has revealed, in recognition of their dedication whilst under training, whilst maintaining the peace and whilst serving our nation during all the wartime conflicts in which the RAF has been involved between 1920 and 2019. To the background strains of Elgar's 'Nimrod' played at the Cenotaph during a Remembrance Ceremony, we created a scrolling 'Virtual Memorial', which consolidates the list of over 2,000 College alumni who we believe lost their lives in service with the RAF; this is available at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=leMc2HQm0eM>.

This album is a hard copy version that adds - to screenshots from the Virtual Memorial - these introductory notes, a front cover and a back cover. The hard copy is not commercially available and is intended only for private, limited distribution to support research.
